

Share_2017

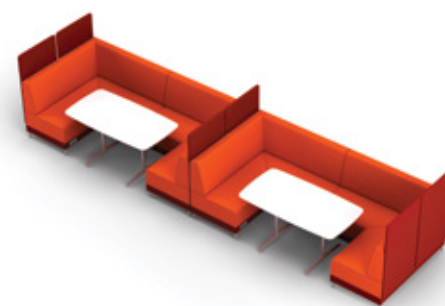

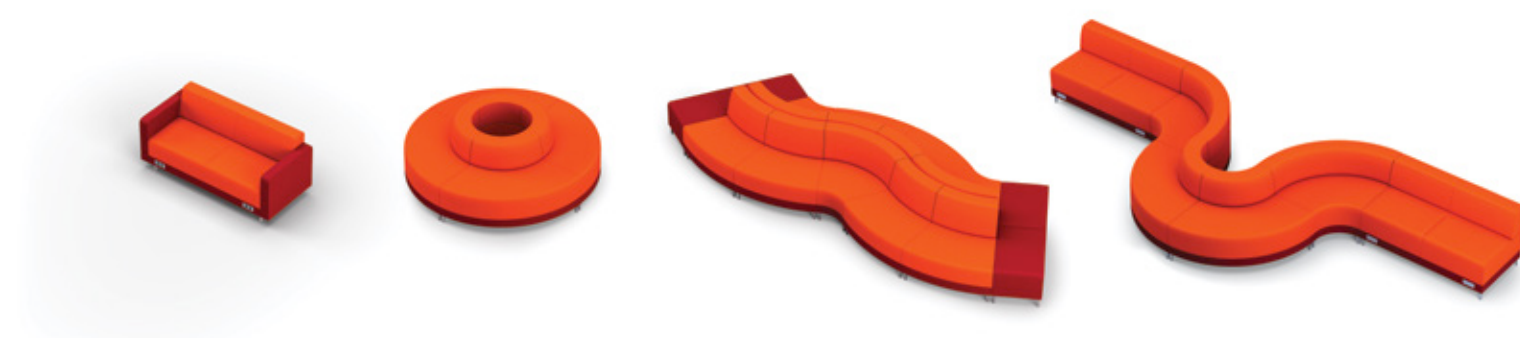

New shapes for tomorrow's workspace.

The collaborative workspace evolves again. More curves, a taller back—and more inspiration for designing an organically interactive, exceptionally productive office.

Share Radius and Banquette

Activity-based, modular seating system

Share has evolved to embrace two significant new directions: banquette-height backs and curved units. The first allows for greater privacy and more precise delineation of space. The second offers broader creativity for unusual spaces where imaginative answers are required.

All Share components can now be successfully combined to provide optimum flexibility. The choice of lounge or task height seating, in conjunction with straight, curved, and banquette backs means that there is always a creative, collaborative solution with Share.
